CEESTEM is a non-profit 501(c)(3) organization whose goal is to increase underrepresented minority youth participation in science, technology, engineering, and mathematics fields (STEM) by (i) providing hands-on STEM instruction, mentoring and support to youth enrolled in 5th through 12th grades, (ii) involving parents in the education of their children, and (iii) engaging youth in the study and appreciation of fine and applied arts, in a holistic approach to education—educating the “whole” mind through analytic and creative activities.
